I. W. W. STRIKE NOT FELT HERE

National Harbor Walkout Is Ordered by M. T. W. U.

LONGSHOREMEN JOIN

Circulars Urging Men Out Found at Docks Here

Port Arthur's water front today is unaffected by the strike call issued out of New York headquarters to all members of the International Longshoremen's Union to strike, canvass of Port Arthur shipping men determined.

Circulars announcing a call is issued to all longshoremen members of the International union to walk out at all the nation's ports are being circulated on Port Arthur docks and wharves, an unconfirmed report set forth.

One contracting stevedore in this port said he had heard nothing from his employees indicating that they are thinking of striking at this time, and expressed the belief that I. W. W.'s are responsible for issuance of the strike call.

Threaten Tieup Of All New York Shipping by Night

NEW YORK, July 25.—With eight ships of many lines, tied up by a longshoremen strike that spread from Hoboken to Manhattan piers Tuesday, officials of the Marine Transport Workers Union threatened to have all New York harbor shipping helpless before nightfall.

The union is affiliated with the I. W. W. Ten thousand circulars printed in several languages have been scattered along the waterfront urging all longshoremen to join in the demand for immediate pay.

Not Sanctioned by I. L. U. The walkout did not have the sanction of the International Longshoremen Union, but its leaders declared they would push it to every port of the United States to enforce their demands.

The strike started in Hoboken and spread rapidly along New Jersey and into the New York harbor, spreading to the New York side of the harbor.

Today street meetings were scheduled with speeches firing the strikers on in several different languages.

Nine hundred workers not affiliated with the I. W. W. were on strike in Hoboken. Approximately 1500 men are there.

Demand of $1 per hour straight time, time and a half for overtime, double rates for meal hours and $1.25 per hour for handling fish and wet hides were among the items listed in the circulars distributed among the workers in New York in an attempt to urge them to tie up all shipping until the demands are met.

Office Help to Stevedoring Some of the strikers left work while preparing a ship schedule to sail and while another vessel of the same line was steaming into port.

White collared office help was ordered out to the wharves and the ships' jacks played while the office men went to work with a will. The longshoremen thought it was as good entertainment as a vaudeville show and remained to see the fun.

The office force also docked a boat in record time and the longshoremen admitted that they did it without a hitch.

First Girl Entrant in Freckles Contest Finds Much to Philosophize Over in the Habits of Younger Generation

Port Arthur's first girl entrant enrolled today in the Freckles contest. She is Alberta McDonald, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McDonald, 1125 Eleventh street. Alberta can boast a big bunch of freckles, and in the following article gives a few of her opinions on dishwashing, jazz music, paint and rouge, from the standpoint of an 8-year-old.

BY ALBERTA McDONALD, (8 years old), 1125 Eleventh street.

The freckles editor told me that I was the first young lady to enter in the freckles contest. I think the other girls are making a mistake by trying to make as though they didn't have any freckles by not entering. Freckles is something to be proud of and not ashamed. And five dollars is not found on the bushes over day. I lead a quiet life at home. I help mother with the dishes and enjoy the work I think ever girl should do.

Here's Today's Linup in Freckles Contest

Edward Cary, 10, 211 Fifth street.

Ernest Brooks, 13, R. F. D. No. 1.

Joe Lusiter, 13, 2336 Eleventh street.

Alberta McDonald, 8, 1125 Eleventh street.

Kanwood Chaisson, 11, 1126 Fifth street.

Charles Bradley, 9, 1120 Fifth street.

Allen Babin, 12, 528 Tenth street.

The same cause when you grow up you have practice as well as theories. I take music lessons to and am getting along grand.

Speaking of music I don't think about these jazz times that are popular in this modern times. I think the boys and girls would do better if they taken life more serious because it is as we are today that we will be the men and women of the future and then we can look back and know we did not falter and done right. Everywhere you go hear this jazz and I think the boys and girls who spurn that kind of music and rather have the old time songs are being wise.

My favorite music is over the waves wait and though it is old it will never be old to me.

I think that that sex is a little flirty though that is probably because the young ladies is young. But we should not despise because I hear older people say that that was the way the boys and girls were when they were young too. I see no harm in bobbed hair, but I will always let mine grow long, I think. A life out doors is much better for the complexion than paint and girls should go to bed early and they want need to make their skin look healthy.

I am proud of Port Arthur and think it has a big future ahead. Lots of people who are grown up would be surprised to no that the younger generation are just as proud of Port Arthur as they are and when I get married I will want to continue living here, though a visit in other states would be nice once in while as change in scenery because I think we can not learn to much about the country in which we live.

Ford Too Late to Bail Out Woman Killing Mate in Auto Row

DETROIT, Mich., July 25.—Henry Ford, vacationing aboard his yacht, read in a Detroit paper how Katherine Gorka had killed her husband here as a result of a quarrel over the purchase of an automobile. Ford immediately ordered his attorney to bail the woman out of jail, regardless of the amount of bail necessary.

When the attorney appeared to obey orders, he found that the woman's friends had beat the automobile manufacturer and had bailed Mrs. Gorka out last week.

BODY OF DR. WILMOT IS SENT TO AUSTIN

REV. BOST ATTENDS ORANGE CONVENTION

Rev. J. W. Bost and family leave this afternoon for Orange to attend the Fifth Sunday preachers' convention, which convenes in that city this week at the Orange Nazarene church.

Rev. Bost and his family will return next Monday. His pulpit will be occupied by one of the members of the church next Sunday.

Oil Interests to Fight Proposal for Federal Control of Crude Price

SAPULPA, Okla., July 25.—Committee composed of oil men representing three oil associations covering the producing, refining and marketing branches of the oil industry will leave Tulsa today at 1 p. m. for Chicago to attend the meeting of all branches of the oil industry called by L. V. Nicholas, president of the National Petroleum Marketers' Association.

The oil conference has been called in an effort to prevent the marketers' association from seeking government control over oil prices. Crude oil prices, it is asserted, are already too low and below the cost of production.

E.T.E.C. WORKERS IN A HUGE PICNIC

Company Entertains Its Employees, Guests

A general imitation of the Port Arthur employees of the Eastern Texas Electric to Beaumont today where the company's annual picnic is being held in the Southeast Texas Fair grounds is reported by the few men and women left to get the interurbans in and out.

Special trailer for the Eastern Texas company's employees went out of Port Arthur on the 9 o'clock interurban this morning, and another special will be attached to the 4 o'clock car to Beaumont. It is said the Port Arthurians will return to this city from Beaumont tonight on a special leaving Beaumont at midnight.

The day will culminate in a dance tonight, athletic events, and games of various kinds having been arranged for the employees entertaining this morning and this afternoon. A huge barbeque and picnic was served at noon today. Arriving at Beaumont, the employees were taken to the fair grounds on special cars operated over the Magnolia avenue car line.

U. S. MAY SIGN TURKISH PACT

Separate Treaty Is Contemplated, Report

LAUSANNE, July 25.—Following signature by seven powers of the Lausanne treaty, the United States, whose minister to Switzerland, Joseph C. Grew has been an unofficial observer at the Near East conference, may soon sign a separate treaty with Turkey.

A conference between Grew and Ismet Pasha on the subject of this Turkish-American agreement, which is to be the United States separate understanding with the Ankara government lasted until near dawn today.

Constantinople Celebrates

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 25.—Ordealy jubilation, salvoes of harbor guns, display of flags and laurel and much firing of blank cartridges followed receipt of word that the Lausanne treaty had been signed. The Turks consider its accomplishment a great victory in that it brings them back into Europe and gives the Ottoman government complete control of Constantinople.

Seven cases, on charges of vagrancy, were dismissed by Special Judge R. G. Robertson, in the Tuesday afternoon session of the corporation court. They were struck from the docket for "want of prosecution," Judge Robertson said.

HeadCrushed In as Doctor Lay Sleeping

Several Times Before Murder Penman, Family Says, Had Told Them of Man He Believed Was Following Him—Diamond Ring Chopped Off Little Finger

Dr. C. A. Penman, 35, well-known Port Arthur physician was found murdered in his bed at Beaumont at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

A Boy Scout ax, blood covered, lay next to the body.

The body was found lying in a welter of blood by Mrs. Lettie Lanier, the victim's mother-in-law, in whose home Dr. Penman lived at 576 Sabine Pass avenue, Beaumont.

Robbery, Beaumont police say, is the motive for the fiendish crime.

A diamond ring, worn by the slain man on the little finger of his left hand had been chopped from the hand by the assailant and rifled purse was found on the bed.

Also a box containing a pearl necklace, which Dr. Penman had received by mail yesterday as a gift to his wife, was missing.

BACK OF HEAD CRUSHED IN The victim's head and face had been hideously chopped. Deep gashes inflicted by the sharp edge of the instrument literally covered the features and the skull at the top and back of the head had been crushed in.

Dr. Penman had twice confided to Mrs. Lanier that he believed he was being tracked from his office in Port Arthur by a white man who he described as having told him he was an I. W. W.

He said the man had engaged him in conversation on the interurban, once remarking, "That is a fine ring you have; have you any more like it?"

Returning from his office in Port Arthur about 7:30 last night, the doctor complained to Mrs. Lanier of illness. He lay down to rest, but got up about 7:30 and went down town where he sent a telegram to his wife, vacationing in Boulder, Ohio. Returning to his home, he went to bed.

LAST SEEN AT 2:30 A. M. About 2:30 this morning according to Mrs. Lanier, he came to her room, asking for soda to relieve a stomach disorder. Mrs. Lanier said she gave him the soda, and he retired to bed. This is the last time he was seen alive.

The house in which the slaying occurred is a large bungalow. It was originally designed to accommodate two families, a separate apartment being built in the rear.

It was here that Dr. Penman maintained his sleeping quarters. Entrance could have been gained to the apartment by several ways. The windows and doors are thought to have been left unlocked so that force was not necessary in reaching the physician's bedside.

Police believe the ax was lying in easy access to the murderer and that he picked it up on entering the house. It is supposed the assailant approached the sleeping man and inflicted a severe blow, which, if it did not instantly kill him, at least stunned him so that outcry was impossible.

Other effects about the room were left untouched. The trousers containing a $1 bill and some change, remained neatly folded where they had been placed last night.

HEARD NO OUTCRIES Mrs. Lanier heard no outcries from the doctor and was unaware of the tragedy until this morning, when she went to call him. He had told her last night he did not wish to be called until 9 o'clock, she said today.

Dr. Penman for the past several months has been associated with Dr. Mabry in the Deuster building. He said to Mrs. Lanier yesterday he was going to ask the doctor if he could take a leave of absence of one week beginning Saturday night so that he could visit his wife in Colorado.

Mrs. Penman went west June 10 with the family of George D. Anderson, Beaumont, attorney. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Penman are sisters.

Anderson declared today that he firmly believed the killer was the man described by the doctor as trailing him from Port Arthur.

BEAUMONT OFFICIALS AT WORK

Chief Reid Tavis declared that he would leave no stone untouched in apprehending the slayer. He said the entire police and detective force had been given details of the murder and instructed to use every effort in trailing down the guilty ones.

Dr. Penman was twice married, the second time several years ago. His first wife died. Three children were born of the first union. Dorothy, 11; William, 9, and Elizabeth, 4.

The instrument used in his death belonged to William. The three children live here with Dr. Penman's mother on Liberty avenue. At 2 o'clock today they had not been told of their father's tragic death.

Dr. Penman has one child, Jack, 15, months old, by the second marriage. The body is in the undertaking rooms of Pipkin & Brulin. The identification chief of the police department took possession of the hatchet and carried it to his office for an examination.

CHINA TO TEST CHRISTIANITY

But Must Do It in Own Way, Says Taylor

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 25.—China will try the Christian religion as the solvent of its many problems when convinced, by actual test, that this religion can meet the needs of both individual and society as a whole, Dr. Joseph Taylor, representative of the American Baptist foreign missionary society in China, told the Baptist world alliance today.

The topic under discussion was "Facing the future in Baptist Foreign Missions."

China must be permitted to interpret the Christian religion in its own way and make its own applications of the principles of Christianity, Dr. Taylor said. He suggested that as a result of original methods used in testing out Christianity, the Chinese would make many distinct contributions to the enrichment of that religion.

"It remained for a Chinese Christian to pack the principles of Christ in one pregnant phrase," Dr. Taylor said. "Native Chinese Christians are not all able to see everything alike and alone of their conventions adopted this slogan: 'We are agreed to differ but resolved to love.' This can well be received and adopted by us of the west."

FRANCE AND BELGIUM REACH ACCORD ON NOTE

PARIS, July 25.—France and Belgium have reached virtual accord on the subject of Great Britain's reparations note and will have a joint reply ready before the British parliament adjourns August 2, it was semi-officially stated today. The Belgian ambassador outlined his government's attitude to Premier Pomare.

CIVITANS HOSTS TO COLLEGIATES

Beach Party Is Planned for Next Week

The visiting students of Port Arthur Business College are to be the guests of the Civitan club at a beach party the latter part of next week. This was voted in the meeting at the Lake View hotel today and the following committee appointed by acting president William Davis to make arrangements and report to the club next week, consists of Major Fitzgerald, Major Crossland and Billy Smith.

Rev. William Oeschger, chairman of the entertainment committee, was called upon for the first of a series of farewell addresses, before leaving for his new pastorate in Denver, Colo.

Rev. Oeschger told the members that one of his most delightful experiences was his affiliation with the Civitan club and that when he came to Denver he would tell the club there that the best men on earth were to be found in the Port Arthur club.

Woman Forces Way To Sheriff's Home And Frees Prisoner

WARREN, Pa., July 25.—Her features concealed beneath a black hood and flowing cape, a young woman Tuesday engineered single handed a daring jail delivery here which freed Patrick Tonnell, believed to be her fiancé.

The woman forced an entrance to the sheriff's home while the official was absent and stole a pistol and the jail keys. Then she went to the jail, herded more than a score of prisoners into a single tier and released Tonnell.

With a sharp command to the remaining prisoners to "keep still," the masked woman fled with her "hostage."

DANGER SEEN TO U. S. ARMY

Civilian Wages Are Factors Against Enlistments

WASHINGTON, July 25.—An appeal to the American Legion for recruits to save America's rapidly dwindling army from becoming a mere police force was being considered today by the war department.

Unless new material can be found quickly, estimate the army will fall below ninety thousand by January 1. It is figured that would give the United States the smallest army percentage of any nation in the world.

Adjutant General Davis was awaiting the response to his personal appeal to the 77,000 officers of the reserve corps to bring in army recruits before calling on the American Legion for help.

RECORDS BROKEN AT BABY HEALTH CENTER

An increased attendance of twenty babies was reported by Red Cross nurses at last week's Health Center since two days have been set aside each week for the holding of the Health Centers. Forty-five children were examined by the attending physicians at the Health Centers last Wednesday and Thursday. Twenty-five has been the maximum number examined heretofore.

All mothers of the city are invited to bring their children to the Health Center either this afternoon or tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock for physical examinations.

HAULETTSVILLE, Texas, July 25.—As services at the Moss Grove church six miles south of here, started, six members of the Ku Klux Klan, in full regalia, walked up to the pulpit, where one of them delivered an address. The minister, Rev. I. D. McWhorter, was given a purse containing $40.

BANK CLERK'S TRAIL IS LOST

El Paso Youth's Whereabouts a Mystery

EL PASO, Texas, July 25.—Who has become of Morgan Broadbent, youthful bookkeeper for the State National Bank here?

Early in June Morgan, left on his annual vacation. His wealthy father, one of the most prominent real estate men of this city, has found clue to Morgan's whereabouts later than June 10, when the young man left his baggage and a return railroad ticket to El Paso, in a hotel room at Long Beach, Calif.

Rotary clubs and police in California cities have been asked to help search for Morgan, and relatives have gone to coast seaports to try to find him.

His father leans to the theory that the boy has been shanghaied and is now at sea on board some vessel and unable to communicate with shore.

Only one message has come to friends. Broadbent was called to the telephone. The speaker at the other end of the line said:

"I am talking from the railroad station. I want to tell you that your son will not be home for a long time."

BRECKENRIDGE CITY HOSPITAL PLANNED

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, July 25.—This city and county are at work to raise funds to erect a city-county hospital. The Chamber of Commerce is backing the proposition and has appointed the following on the committee: John W. Hickman, Dr. B. A. Sumner, F. E. Cragin, Claude Thompson and LeRoy M. Anderson.

GUARD IS PAID MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 25.—Members of the 133rd Regiment National Guard Service Company, have received their pay checks, amounting to $1,144.51. They will have another pay day Aug. 5. About 15 members of the company including the band will attend the annual encampment at Camp Travis.

18,000 FEET OF NEW GAS MAINS

Increase in Consumers Reported by Low

Despite the dull season for the gas company as a result of many housewives leaving for summer vacations, and cooking reduced to a minimum, a steady increase in the number of gas consumers is reported by Frank X. Low, manager of the company.

Since June 1 when the gas rate question was finally settled between the city commission and the gas company, 18,000 feet of gas mains have been added to the Port Arthur gas system, Low said, and about 50 new consumers have been added during this time, he said.

Plans for putting on a cooking demonstration the first week in September, when domestic science experts and representatives from factories making gas stoves will be in Port Arthur are being made by the Peoples Gas company, the manager said.

Making allowances for the season of the year, new customers are being added at a good rate not in such numbers, however, as we hope to have and must have later on," Low said.

Enoch Arden, Back From Prison, Asks Rival Be Punished

MILWAUKEE, July 25.—Forgiveness for the erring wife, even as she forgave him more than two years ago, but punishment for her lover, even as the husband "as punished in Waupun penitentiary, is the sole wish of Harry Kelly, 29, who, like Enoch Arden of old, returned to his wife and child only to discover his mate in the arms of another.

It was this discovery that brought about the arrest of Anna Kelly, 26, the wife, and Andrea Olson, 32, who has been her provider while the husband and father was in prison on the same charge of which he now accuses his wife and her lover.

"I'll forgive her just as she forgave me two and a half years ago," said Kelly in district court awaiting the calling of the case against his wife. "But as for her lover and the father of her unborn child, I'll never rest until he is in the cell I just left."

"It was because it was hard to feed and clothe myself and our 4-year-old daughter, Virginia," said Mrs. Kelly, in offering an excuse for her conduct. Olson, the third person of the triangle, was silent and avoided the glance of the husband. Mrs. Kelly and her lover were bound over to municipal court for trial.

WOMAN IS HELD IN BABE'S DEATH

Tells Conflicting Stories, Police Say

BRIENHAM, Texas, July 25.—Although she denies her guilt, Mrs. Willie Koelme, of Independence, near here, is in the county jail today charged with murdering her two weeks old daughter.

The infant, an autopsy showed, came to its death by drowning. Circumstantial evidence pointed to the mother and despite her protest that the child was killed by a man who came to the house while her husband was at work in the field she was arrested and brought here late last night.

The woman told several conflicting stories regarding the death of her babe, according to the authorities.

TEACHERS GET CHARTER

AUSTIN, Texas, July 25.—The secretary of state today granted a charter to the Texas State Teachers' association of Fort Worth. Incorporation papers show the purpose of the association to be educational to promote education and laws for elimination of illiteracy. Incorporators named in the papers are: W. L. Wilkie, E. R. Bentley, S. C. Wilson and others.

PIONEER DIES EARLY TUESDAY

A. Furchner Will Be Buried Here Last of Week

Funeral services for August Furchner, 72, pioneer Port Arthurian, who died Tuesday morning about 3 o'clock at the family home, 820 Seventh street, will be held the latter part of this week, but the exact date has not been set, pending word from a daughter, expected from California.

Mr. Furchner came to Port Arthur in 1897, engaging as a general contractor for the first 15 years he resided in this city, then going into the employ of the Gulf Refining company. He was a member of Masonic orders in Port Arthur, and was a Knight Templar. Among his other fraternal affiliations was that with the lodge of Odd Fellows here.

The deceased was born in Friedland, Germany, and came to the United States 50 years ago. Surviving are his widow, four daughters, Miss Augusta, en route to Port Arthur from California, where she has been finishing in music; and Misses Frances, Bertha, and Minnie, all of Port Arthur.

TO BED CROUCHY WAKE UP FEELING SIMPLY FINE

Wonderful How Calatals the De-Natured, Colored Tablet Makes You Feel So Good the Next Morning.

The old-time calomel was the best medicine in the world and the only thing that could straighten out a disordered liver, but it had some serious drawbacks. The gripping and the sickening after-effects made many people afraid to take it. Now you can take Calatals without the slightest objection. One Calatals at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no gripping, no nausea, no salts. Next morning your liver is clean, your system purified and you are feeling fine—with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Calatals are so near perfect that your doctor is authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted. Sold only in trade-marked packages. Price ten cents and thirty-five cents.—adv.

Coughs Bullet Out in Time for Death Trial

NEW YORK, July 25.—Daniel Healey, druggist, wounded three months ago by an assassin who killed two of Healey's companions has coughed up a bullet.

It will be offered in evidence at the murder trial in White Plains.

The bullet had lodged in his throat. Surgeons were planning to try to extricate it. The coughing forestalled them.

Healey is the only eye-witness of the public murder. The State accuses Peter McLean, 28, in a colloquy with Healey, McLean, who had been employed in the store as porter, is alleged to have opened fire. Mrs. Mary Mallon and George Walsh were killed.

What tickles a man more than finding a dollar bill in the pockets of his old fishing clothes?

LIDDELL SUES S. S. STEADFAST

Alleges Violations of Rat Guard Law

Complaint of violation of the U. S. law relative to rat-guarding and loading-off ships in ports of the Sabine district was filed against the American S. S. Steadfast, by Surgeon T. J. Liddell in the U. S. district attorney's offices at Beaumont Tuesday afternoon.

Surgeon Liddell reported that the alleged violation was committed at Beaumont, the ship failing to comply with the law when notified by the inspector who boarded the vessel.

BURYING A PIANO

A man known recently to buy his wife a piano for a birthday present.

Now, there is more competition, rivalry and push among piano agents than any other class of men. The insurance and fruit tree business are mild and retiring in comparison with the piano industry. This man, who is a prominent lawyer, knew this, and he was careful not to tell too many people of his intentions for fear the agents would annoy him. He inquired in a music store only once, regarding prices, etc., and intended after a week or so to make his selection.

When he left the store he went around by the postoffice before going back to work.

When he reached his office he found three agents perched on his desk and in his chair waiting for him.

One of them got his mouth open first, and said:

"Hear you want to buy a piano, sir? For sweetness, durability, finish, tone, workmanship, style and quality the Steinway is—"

"Nix," said another agent, pushing in between them and seizing the lawyer's collar. "You get a Chattering Only piano in the world. For sweetness, durability, finish, tone, workmanship—"

"Excuse me," said the third agent. "I can't stand by and see a man swindled. The Chronic and Bark piano for sweetness, durability, finish—"

"Get out, every one of you," shouted the lawyer. "When I want a piano I'll buy the one I please. Get out of the room."

The agents left and the lawyer went to work on a brief. During the afternoon five of his personal friends called to recommend different makes of piano, and the lawyer began to get snappish.

He went out and got a drink and the bartender said: "Say, gent, me brudder works in a piano factory and he gimme de tip dat you wants to buy one of de tum-tums. Me brudder says dat fer sweetness, durability, finish—"

"Devil take your brother," said the lawyer.

He got on the street car to go home and four agents were already waiting for him. He dodged back before they saw him and stood on the platform. Presently the brakeman leaned over and whispered in his ear: "Friend, the Epperson piano what me uncle handles in East Texas, fur sweetness, durability—"

"Stop the car," said the lawyer. He got off and skulked in a dark doorway until the four agents who had also got off the car, rushed past, and then he picked up a big stone from the gutter and put it in his pocket.

He went around a back way to his home and slipped up to the gate feeling pretty safe. The minister of his church had been calling at the house, and came out the gate just as the lawyer reached it. The lawyer was the proud father of a brand new two-week-old baby, and the minister had just been admiring it, and wanted to congratulate him.

"My dear brother," said the minister. "Your house will soon be filled with joy and music. I think it will be a great addition to your home. Now, there is nothing superior, for sweetness—"

"Confound you, you're drumming for a piano, too, are you?" roared the lawyer, drawing the stone from his pocket. He fired away and knocked the minister's tall hat across the street and kicked him on the shin. The minister believed in the church militant, and he gave the lawyer a one, two on the nose, and they clinched and rolled off the sidewalk on a pile of loose bricks. The neighbors heard the row and came out with shotgun and lanterns, and finally an understanding was arrived at.

The lawyer was considerably battered up, and the family doctor was sent for to patch him. As the doctor bent over him with sticking plaster and a bottle of arnica, he said:

"You'll be out in a day or two, and then I want you to come around and buy a piano from my brother. The one he is agent for is acknowledged to be the best one for sweetness, durability, style, quality and action in the world."

THE COYOTE OF THE MIND.

In "Human Wreckage" which will be shown in Port Arthur the wife of this year's most prominent dope victim paints the picture of the progressive ravages of dope. Throughout the picture occurs in shadow, photograph and drawing, the ever present image of a coyote.

Dorothy Davenport has done the job well: If misfortune ever is a benefit, the death of Wallace Reid, the youthful and joyous, may in the long run prove to have been the thing necessary to bring the seriousness of the narcotic evil home to the average mind. It seems hardly possible that any one who sees this picture will ever be led into the misery of the dope habit.

It will need the education only possible through such a picture to bring American sentiment to the point of action.

The traffic in opium and its derivatives is England's greatest shame. England herself is reasonably free from the dope evil, but the revenues of India are turned over to England, and the English controlled banks of India encourage poppy planting and raw opium exportation. And the English government has constantly discouraged all efforts to restrict the growth of the poppy. In fact, England threatened the Chinese in the past with war ships when China attempted to protect herself from the ravages of opium through refusal to receive the same at her ports of entry.

The United States and not China is now the world's largest consumer of dope. America, of course, is perfectly able to take care of herself as regards to England. Uncle Sam has control of his ports, and has regulated legal trade in all narcotics. But Uncle Sam has not been able to regulate smuggling. Too many millions of people move back and forth. Thousands of miles of border line cannot be protected against the hosts of depraved men who are engaged in bringing in such products.

Our Texas border has about one federal enforcement officer to every thirty miles. A profitable cargo of opium can be brought across the Rio Grande in a set of false teeth. Probably the international parcels post bag contains enough of the poison annually to destroy tens of thousands of American manhood.

The United States holds that the only solution for America is that the growth of the poppy be limited to the actual narcotic needs of the world. A few months ago the United States asked the narcotic sections of the leading nations to undertake such a plan. All nations were agreeable with the exception of England, India and Holland. These three nations are making the money out of America's peril. India grows the poppy. England transports and traffics it. And Holland manufactures opium into its various derivatives for retail smugglers preying on the profitable American market.

It is said that there are more than 100,000 confirmed drug addicts in the city of New York alone. If the same ratio holds true in Texas, there are enough dope addicts in the state to populate Waco and Austin. And Texas is almost as open to contagion as is New York City. The Texas traffic comes through Mexico by way of German and Spanish ships. Juarez, Nuevo Laredo, and Matamoros are store houses for the dope runners who supply the trans-Mississippi trade.

It would be well if Governor Neff obtained personally the information which his ranger force should be able to gather for him. The head of the state of Texas should voice in some way the decision of this state in regard to the drug evil. Texas should demand a stronger patrol of the Rio Grande border by the United States. She should also ask Washington to never let up until England restricts poppy culture to the need of legitimate medical practice. At present England is allowing a hundred-fold times the production of the poppy that is required as medicine.

California led the United States in suicides in 1922. Between 15,000 and 16,000 persons took their own lives in the United States during the year, and returns from 76 large cities place San Diego first, Sacramento second, San Francisco third, and Los Angeles fourth. Portland, Oregon, drew fifth place in percentages and Seattle sixth place. Where did Hollywood come in?

WOMAN.

Twenty-three million women have benefitted by the passage of equal rights legislation in the legislation biennium which has just come to a close. Women leaders say that the most popular part of the equal rights program is that aimed to make the guardian ship rights of a mother over minor children equal to those of a father. Legislation of this type succeeded in eight states. In Delaware, Georgia and New York the right of a mother to inherit from a deceased child was made equal to that of a father, and in Virginia the inheritance rights of women were made equal. Women were made eligible to public office in Delaware, Louisiana, Maryland and Oklahoma and to jury service in Maine. Woman is coming into her own in all civilized countries. War is still but the world war hastened the day that ushered in the emancipation of woman, gave her the ballot and all the responsibilities that goes with the ballot.

Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon is a stand pater. Later along he is going to issue orders for the seizure of wet ships which defy law, jail their captains, sell the liners and give the money to Uncle Sam. This is what is going to happen unless foreign ship owners recognize the inevitable and how to it.

TELL IT TO STRODER.

Representative J. S. Stroder of Navarro county is reminded that the bones of a giant mastodon have been found on a farm in Ontario and a famous scientist who heads the biology department at the Western University in London, Ontario, asserts that the mastodon lived about 30,000 years ago. He was a sure enough monster: his teeth were a foot long and 18 inches across. His tusks were 8 feet long; his jaw bone weighed 40 pounds and when in the land of the living it is estimated that the gigantic creature weighed between 30 and 50 tons. All this happened before the coming of the Stroder age. But it is interesting just the same.

COME TO TEXAS.

Governor Jack Walton says he is going to stamp mob rule and mob violence out of Oklahoma. Well, it can be done. Governor Neff sent the soldiers to Galveston. They made Galveston as quiet as a cemetery. He sent the soldiers to Mexico. They made Mexico as quiet as the tomb of Tut Tut. He sent them to all the open port towns and the peace of the grave yard reigned. Governor Jack might come to Texas and find out how it is done.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN

I have been wondering, old chap, if I had better write you that letter. You may be sure that I would have come over and told what I am going to say to you if I could possibly have gotten away, but the Strathmore case comes up tomorrow, and I must be in court. I think, however, you should know immediately what I am going to tell you.

Paula Perier came to town yesterday and sent for me to come over to the hotel. First I thought I would not go, as it seemed to me that the Perier episode was a chapter in your life that should be closed. However, she got me on the phone and begged me to come.

"The last time, it is, monsier, that you will see Paula," she said in her queer little idiom, "and for all concerned, thinking I am, there are necessary some explanations."

Her voice was trembling. Jack, and I really felt sorry for her. I said to her I would come over. "For Madame Perier you must ask," she said, "for I have with me 'Paula'." I arrived at the hotel and was shown up to Paula's room. She has grown thin and pale. She has lost much of her vivacity, but she has gained immeasurably in a kind of monodona-like beauty. She seems all eyes and pathetic smile. I am sure she is going to make a great hit on the screen in a certain type of picture. She told me that she already had an offer from one of the big directors to take a small part in his next picture. "He is French, you know," she said, "and I think I first became interested in me because I spoke the language. At the house of a mutual friend I met him."

And then, Jack, she asked about you. "Is he well—is he happy?" she asked tremulously.

"No, he is not very happy just at present, Paula," I answered. And then I told her about Leslie. Jack, I never liked Paula Perier as well as I did while she was listening to Leslie's unhappy story. "Poor, poor woman," she said, "it is I who can give, for through it all I have gone. And then without any embarrassment whatever she said, 'My baby—would you like to see him?'"

With that she went into the other room and brought out a little bundle of flannel and lace, and I swear to you Jack, that as she held it to her breast she looked like the type that all of us conceive when we think of "Mother"—a mother with her first-born. She pulled the little shawl away from the face of the child and I fairly gasped—for in his sleep that baby pulled down one corner of his mouth and wrinkled up his nose in exactly the same way you do, Jack. It was uncanny.

"Sweet, is he old?" she asked. Instead of answering, I questioned. "What are you going to do with him? Surely you are not going to take him out to Hollywood with you, are you?"

"But, yes, with him I can do nothing else, and he is my baby—just mine alone. I do not have to answer to any one for him but Le Bon Dieu."

I could not help wondering, Jack, if you would have to answer to some good God, or some malignant devil, for that little helpless bit of humanity. If you ever saw him, you could not deny him. And yet I do not think that Paula wants you, even to acknowledge him, for when I asked her what she was going to call him she answered, "Paul Perier."

Tomorrow—John Fremont's mother writes to him—Another demand for money.

YOU AND I

AHEAD

The stock market having lost part of its reliability as a "weather-vane" of general business conditions, you turn to the next weather-vane—movement of freight by the railroads.

For three weeks in June, latest reported, the roads hauled over a million cars of freight a week. It's a record for this time of the year, never before equalled.

It seems logical that business is not ordering the stuff moved by freight unless it is reasonably sure of a market for it. If correct, the winter outlook is good. Spring business, like spring weather, is too far away to predict.

IODINE

The white race's supremacy is due to the fact that ages ago it took up its abode by the sea, where it obtained food rich in iodine, says Dr. Grant Mitchell.

Iodine assists the thyroid gland, which plays a big part in regulating mentality and physical vigor.

The bodily power and alertness of the Japanese are materially due to their large consumption of seafood. On the other hand, the Eskimos, who live largely on seafood, are virtually disease-proof, but as a race they are intellectual weaklings.

TONIC

Nine times as many manufacturers of hair tonic and other barber's allied supplies as there were before prohibition, discovers Frederick A. Hazeltine, prohibition sleuth in the Philadelphia district. He bases the figure on the situation in the joke writers' circle, or about one of the surviving drinkers having had a close shave. Boy, page Tom Sims.

RAILWAY OF MEXICO TO HAVE NEW BOARD

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 25.—The Mexican ministry of finance and the international committee of bankers in Mexico have reached an agreement whereby the National railway of Mexico will be governed by a permanent board of 21 directors, to be named October 4, five by the bankers and 16 by the government. General Lubbart said he did not know if any steps were being taken to reimburse the former owners of stock in Mexican railways, which were taken over by the government.

MEXICO ORGANIZES OWN KU KLUX KLAN

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 25.—A Mexican Ku Klux Klan has been organized, similar to that which exists in the United States, according to a press dispatch received here from the City of Mexico. The newspapers of the capital express great excitement over the discovery. The avowed object of the organization is to see that evil-doers who slip by the courts do not go unpunished for their misdeeds.

Islanders Outhit Texacos, But Drop Hit-and-Run Game, 10-8

Sluggers First Put Karnaky to Flight, Then Banish Lauve

Only Final Stanza Decides Old-Fashioned Bunting Spree, as Two City League Nines Make Race Track of Lakeshore Diamond

By BILL ARCHER

SKIPPER Nookie Priester's proteges patted Pete Karnaky when his meant runs yesterday, and the Texacos eluded the venerable Island southpaw from the rubber for a 10 to 8 victory in the City League race.

Karnaky, recognized as a good southpaw that always has hard luck in the latter stages of the clash, met the same fate yesterday after he had started going good. The Texacos found him for some of the longest drives seen on the diamond this season; fielders looked like jack-rabbits and the bases like a race track for six long frames, as both sides, for that matter, clouted the offerings of Karnaky, Blount, Lauve and Kring. Tate was permitted to pitch the apple a little, too, but the boys didn't locate anything he had to offer.

The game was never decided until that agreed sixth frame drew it to a close after an hour and thirty minutes of chopping. It was literally a see-saw affair, with first the Island, then the Texacos stepping ahead.

The Texacos took the lead in the second stanza, when a couple of passes, two hits and a sacrifice dished out by Karnaky meant three runners crossing the counting rubber. The Island had already scored a run in the opening round—and it looked right then as if they might whitewash the Priesterites just for once.

In the third frame, the lead of the Texacos was piled even higher with another three runners crossing home plate, but the Island showed some of that come-back stuff in the third themselves, when they pounded the twirlings of Pitcher Lauve—one time ace of the Texacos—all over the sand lot and collected a total of four runs. In that fatal section of the issue for Lauve, the Island sluggers gathered in five singles and a double, while their runners added to the rest of the period with a pair of stolen bases.

It was practically all over in the fourth—although fandom didn't dare believe such might be the case, with the hit-and-run game in most every stanza. The Texacos gathered three more runs into the fold on a double, a triple and an error and a walk.

And that chased Pete Karnaky from the rubber. Blount was sent in to relieve him, and the Island fielder showed more form than any other hurler during the game for the pair of innings he twirled. Of the eight men who faced him, four drew strikeouts, while Nookie Priester got to him for a triple and Lauve swatted one in his alley for a bungle.

Lauve drew chasing orders himself in the fifth. The first three men up collected hits—long hits, two of which went for triples, clearing the bases before them. So Priester sent Tate in to finish the stanza. Tate was nipped for a sacrifice fly that brought in a run, but otherwise retired the Islanders without damage.

Kring finished the game for the Texacos Stars—and Blount went the rest of the way for the Islanders. Between them, they checked the slaughter that might have gone to worse proportions.

The Islanders out-slugged the Texacos yesterday; and they hit the ball a long way when they found it, too. Townsend, catcher released sometime ago to the Islanders by the Citizens, located practically everything that came over yesterday. In three trips to the plate, he accounted for a couple of runs and a trio of hits—a single, a double and a triple. He cleaned the bases in the fifth, Blount bled and Karnaky also delivered the batting goods, while Billie Palmer collected a pair of swats in his four trips up for the Texacos that went as their best hitting for the day.

RALLY IN EIGHTH
PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—New York staged a batting rally in the eighth inning and scored enough runs to win from Philadelphia. The final score was 9 to 2.

In the ninth inning with two on base Babe Ruth hit his 23rd home run of the season, tying the mark of "Cy" Williams of the Phillies, who had previously led both leagues.

GASSERS WIN, 6-3
SHREVEPORT, La., July 25.—The Gassers were fortunate enough to get extra base hits when a runner was perched on base, enabling them to take the second game of the series from the Buffs, 6 to 3.

PINCH HITTER HAS HARD JOB

Rogers Hornsby Says It Is Difficult One

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—"Playing pinch hitter is the toughest job in baseball," So says Rogers Hornsby, premier star of the National League. "There may be some soft jobs in baseball but pinch hitting isn't one of them," continues Hornsby. "I am content to play regularly rather than pinch hit when the occasion demands."

"It is hard enough to hit 'em safe when you are in the game every day, playing regularly. It's some tough job, believe me, to get off the bench cold and step into the breach, realizing that much depends on your ability to come through with a base hit."

"Don't overlook the fact that the good pinch hitter is invariably called upon in the crisis only. He is saved for the big moment where often a base hit means the old ball game. The pinch hitter is always up in the crisis."

"The toughest thing in the world is to make a base hit under pressure. At such spots the pitcher is giving you everything in his assortment. The pinch hitter is always looking at what the opposing pitcher has in reserve, just a wee bit more speed or a trifle faster breaking curve."

"Never until my recent injury did I realize what a job the pinch hitter really has. When recovering from an injured leg I several times went to bat in a pinch, believe me, the feeling is much different than being in there regularly."

Most ball players will say "Amen" to Hornsby's expression relative to the pinch hitting job, yet there are players who seem to thrive on it. At present Elmer Smith of the New York Yankees by his timely hitting has just about won the title of "King of the Pinch Hitters."

ENID'S HOPE OF BOUT GROWING

Kearns Inquires of Probable Dempsey Opponent

ENID, Okla., July 25.—Belief that Jack Dempsey might defend his title here Labor Day was strengthened today with the receipt of a telegram from Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, by Earl Austin, wealthy sporting goods dealer, inquiring as to Dempsey's possible opponent.

Austin recently offered Kearns $200,000 and 25 per cent share of the moving picture rights and ten per cent of the "gate" for the champion's Labor Day scrap here.

Austin stated he had selected no candidate for the proposed bout.

SON-IN-LAW'S ATTACK MAY RESULT IN DEATH

DALLAS, Texas, July 25.—G. T. Henager, 55 years old, lies at the point of death at the City hospital from the effect of three bullets fired from a pistol in the hands of Marvin Barren, 21, the victim's son-in-law. Family trouble is believed to have been the cause of the attack which occurred in the tent occupied by the older man on Lancaster avenue, near Forest park. Officers Frier and Hitt lodged Barren in the city jail, where he is being held awaiting further report as to Henager's condition.

Eight Handsome Prizes to Be Awarded Winners in News' Aquatic Carnival

Eight handsome prizes for as many winners!

This morning, the prize list in the News' Aquatic Carnival—the first of its kind ever arranged for Port Arthur water lovers—was augmented to eight big prizes including everything from bathing caps and waterproof sledge for the ladies to attractive bathing suits for both the ladies and men.

The program of events, a lengthy affair to be held in the Plaza Natatorium tonight at 8:30 o'clock, covers practically every sport known to the swimming tank. It even includes a trio of fancy stunts by the expert in charge of the pool—Harry Coughlin.

Tomorrow, your chance to get in the events which will decide several city titles, will end at 4 o'clock. The list of entries will be closed at that hour tomorrow afternoon, and those in charge of the affair expect to see a host of enthusiastic water fans lined up for the starting whistle Thursday evening when the first event is scheduled to take place at 8:30 p. m.

The list of handsome prizes which will be awarded the winners of eight attractive events follow:

1. First prize for winner of 50-yard dash, bathing suit, C. T. BAKER & COMPANY.

2. First prize for winner of 100-yard dash, bathing suit, ROOS & FORBES CO.

3. First prize for winner of 300-yard dash, bathing suit, SAM SACHS.

4. First prize for winner of quarter-mile race, bathing suit, HABER'S, INC.

5. First prize for winner of bathing girls' review, bathing cap and waterproof sledge, CORNER DRUG CO.

6. First prize for winner of boys' fancy diving contest, bathing suit, PORT ARTHUR SPORTING GOODS CO.

7. First prize for winner of girls and ladies' fancy diving contest, bathing suit, HODGES.

8. First prize for winner of fancy diving contest, bathing suit, IMHOFF'S.

Instructor Coughlin declares that he is ready to entertain a record-breaking crowd of water enthusiasts at the Nat. He expects to see the place packed to full capacity, with a few running-over on the outside clamoring for a place to witness the contests. "Better get here early if you want to see the show," he warned this morning, and he's right.

The program for the evening, which will celebrate the first aquatic carnival to decide city amateur titles for a period of one year, will be officiated over by Dick Sheeks, Guy Hooker and Bill Archer, judges of the races.

There are numerous feature numbers on the program, but perhaps one of the most attractive will be the bathing girls review. It's a different kind of review from those ordinarily staged over the country. Tomorrow night, the girl having the suit most suitable for water, and the neatest form—the upper cello water suit, in other words, will be declared the winner.

The lists are still open. File your name with the News Aquatic Carnival Editor today—and if you can't swim, dive or stunt, come out anyway and enjoy the program!

Here's the Program

1. Porpoise play—Harry L. Coughlin.
2. Fifty yard race dash free style.
3. Judging ladies' contest; best form and bathing suit.
4. One hundred yard race.
5. King of the raft.
6. Two hundred yard race.
7. Judging Port Arthur's best fancy diver.
8. Chasing the ducks.
9. Swimming completely tied—Harry L. Coughlin.
10. Exhibition junior life saving by girls and boys.
11. Boys' tub race.
12. Quarter-mile race for Port Arthur's long-distance champion.
13. Walking the greasy pole.
14. Fire dive by Harry L. Coughlin.
15. Water polo.

Some men can't go forward because they always have the brakes on the keep from slipping backward.

Tex Rickard May Get Dempsey-Firpo Bout

Signed Up This Eve

NEW YORK, July 25.—Official announcement that Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo have agreed to meet for the heavyweight championship may be made by Tex Rickard this afternoon.

While rumors are going around that the match has been made for Polo Grounds, sometime near Labor Day, Rickard would give no definite confirmation.

"I'll have something to say definitely this afternoon," he said.

Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, insists that he has not signed yet but it is known that he agreed on terms several weeks ago and a hitch in making the match arose when Firpo demanded more money than Rickard first offered.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

The next place in Rainbow Land where the Twins went with Mister Sky Bow was the place where two Googlies lived. The Googlies were not beautiful. They were far from it. Indeed they were ugly, for their eyes stuck out like the lamps on an automobile and it gave them the appearance of inquisitive beetles standing on their hind legs. "How do you do?" said a Googly, stepping up and tipping his hat. "We've been expecting you for five hours and forty minutes and sixteen seconds. You are late." "Why?" exclaimed Nancy. "How did you know we were coming?" "Never ask a Googly how he knows anything," said the Googly importantly. "These eyes of ours were not made for nothing. Some people have necks that stretch. Others have ears that stretch (when there are secrets to be heard), but we have eyes that stretch, look!"

And before the Twins could so much as wink, hadn't the Googly shot his great eyes up like skyrocket and brought them down again! "Ah, ha! I knew it!" he cried. "The emperor of China is having birds' nests for lunch. I can see around the world with these eyes of mine. Anything you wish to know?" "Um, yes, yes!" cried Nick. "Please tell me what Santa Claus is doing. And Mrs. Santa Claus and everybody." "I'm! Just wait!" said the Googly shooting up his eyes again. "Santa Claus is painting a word on an express wagon. It says 'Neh.' And Mrs. Claus is making a doll dress. Now she's plumping a paper on it. It says 'Nancy.' Then the Googly brought his eyes down again. "Oh, my!" sighed Nancy happily. "I wish I were a Googly. You'd never have to study at all. You'd know everything." (To Be Continued) (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

ART SALE PLANNED WITH NO PUBLICITY

LONDON, July 25.—Anybody with pictures to sell, one would have thought would clamor for publicity. But apparently there is an effective way of avoiding talk and fuss among one's friends by going to an Old Bond street firm which specializes in a financial newspaper.

"Picture collections dispersed without publicity," "It often happens," said a member of the firm of W. M. Power, Ltd., recently, "that, owing to existing conditions, people are forced to dispose of some of their pictures and do not want to say where in auction, as that would mean publicity at once."

The principal object in introducing this scheme to encourage lovers of old masters to invest therein, without fear of loss such as is often experienced when having to realize at auction.

FRIENDS SAY GANNA NOT TO SING SOON

NEW YORK, July 25.—Not at all cast down is Ganna Walska McCormick by the titters that greeted her operatic debut in Paris when she essayed the role of Gilda in a performance of Rigoletto for charitable purposes. Ganna is not going to sing in musical comedy, as has been reported. Neither is she going to appear in the Chicago opera. This is made positive by friends of the singer who arrived here Wednesday.

One source of amusement was the offer by a job. McCormick received by cablegram just before sailing. It was signed by Reine Davies of the Chicago fashion show and offered the singer $2,000 a week. "A nice time to give me a job," remarked Mrs. McCormick, with a smile. "Just after mother died and left us $80,000,000."
